After 4 months, I still can't add credit cards to my Google Wallet on my Pixel 10 / Android 16

Since I bought my phone I've trying to add my credit cards to my Google Wallet. I know it was a big issue in the begining, with a lot of talk in the community, but I think it's not a general issue anymore, since almost noone is talking about it anymore. But I'm still facing this problem.

An example of how old this problem is:

https://www.reddit.com/r/GooglePixel/comments/1o9mbv3/how_to_fix_google_wallet_issues/

It doesn't give any indicator about what could be the problem when I try to add the credit card, it just says it was not possible to add the card and I should try contact the bank, but I've tried with all my 3 banks... And I talked to them and they say it's not an issue with them, on their side everything is ok. I'm from Brasil and the banks I talked are Santander, Itaú and Nubank.

I could only add the Revolut card (it was one of the suggestions back when the phone came out and the problem started being reported) and recently I could add my Wise card as well, but my other cards... Nothing.

I've tried to add my credit cards thru the bank app and directly to the Wallet app, neither way is working.

My Google Play Service is updated (I'm even in the beta program), my System Services are all updated.

Anyone knows what could I do?

Can you clear the cache on the Google Play Services app? If necessary maybe even Clear Data, although that's more drastic.

Google Play Services, right?

I just did it and still can't add my cards. :'(

Most banking apps have a well hidden option to add their card to Wallet. Bank of America tech support showed it to me when I called them mad as hell.

If any Microsoft infrastructure is involved in your login attempts, nothing will happen. Much of Microsoft is down right now.

I had your exact issue on my iPhone 15 Pro Max. I was able to add my card to every single wallet in Google wallet before. I had to call my bank as there are specific token limit available for each card used for digital wallets. If you've used up all of these tokens, you can't add the card to the wallet and they had to reset my tokens. Once they did that I was able to add the card to the iPhone no problem. And now I have a pixel 10 Pro XL and I was able to add my card to Google wallet without any issues

Wipe phone. Set up your phone as new, don't use back up. Only add your Gmail account to phone. Then add card. Easy.

Then bring everything back from your back ups

I had problems with cards that were already used previously with my old iPhone and Apple Pay. Luckily I got a new debit card (was due for a new one) from my bank, and had no issues adding that. I also found that the Revolut card could be added with no problems too.

Yes, the Revolut I could add, but not the rest of my cards. :(

Maybe try and request new cards from your bank?

I was having problems adding my cards on my Pixel 10 Pro XL. I am in the UK and have a Santander card, Monzo card and a NatWest card.

The Monzo card added straight away without any problems but my Santander wouldn't add. Eventually I got someone quite helpful on the phone and it turned out that they needed to delete my security tokens so maybe see if they can delete the security keys for the other cards too.

Hope you get it sorted

Yeah, I've tried to add my credit cards thru the bank app and directly to the Wallet app, neither way is working.

I experienced the same and only got it to work when I found the 'add to Google wallet' button in my bank's app (maybe, I even had to use their website?)

Just adding it myself with the credit card numbers never worked.

But I've tried to add my credit cards thru the bank app and directly to the Wallet app, neither way is working.

I had a similar issue and had to talk to some banks to resolve this. Most will not understand and be very unhelpful but you just have to pester them until they transfer you to someone who knows what they are doing:
