

Skip to main contentr/GooglePixel × Search in r/GooglePixel

Create

r/GooglePixel • 3mo ago
BeNicePlsThankU

...

FYI: Google will only replace a faulty phone ONCE even if you're under the warranty period.

<https://imgur.com/a/MrOz8IH>

This is pretty crazy. If a known problem persists through no fault of your own, you are liable for the costs to fix your phone. I had the vertical line appear on my phone once before and it was fixed. I tried to get the same issue fixed once it appeared again about 6 months later, but this is the email I was sent after 40 other emails. I have a Pixel 8, by the way

Edit: Google has an extended 3 year warranty for this exact issue, yet they only honor it once apparently.

Edit: Another post showing how Google is super grimey. Just be aware before you buy a pixel.

0

24

Share

radiopopularPT • Promoted

...

Sem Juros está ON ⚡ até 10x

radiopopular.pt

RADIO POPULAR

até 10x SEM JUROS
TAE 18,9%
Acresce comissão de formalização de 2€ a 10€ na 1ª mensalidade

Sem Juros está ON

4x sem juros 75€ a 5000€	10x sem juros 179€ a 5000€
------------------------------------	--------------------------------------

Cartão de Crédito RPO: TAE 18,9%

4x (até 75€ a 5000€) e 10x (até 179€ a 5000€) sem juros e comissão de formalização de 2€ a 10€ na 1ª mensalidade. TAE 18,9%. O crédito sujeito a aprovação prévia. Consulte as condições de utilização no site da Rádio Popular. Para mais informações consulte o site da Rádio Popular ou o seu gerente. Promoção válida de 1 a 31 de Dezembro de 2024. Consulte condições.

Join the conversationSort by: Best ▾

Search Comments

ronakg • 3mo ago
Pixel 10 Pro XL 📱

This isn't true. I've gotten multiple phone replacement under warranty in the past.

The one you've linked is not an Extended Warranty program, but an Extended Repair program, which includes one free display replacement.

Alternative-Farmer98 • 3mo ago

You do realize that just because your experience is different than the OP doesn't mean he's wrong. We're all dealing with limited sample sizes here and different variables

Skip to main content

Create

iamPendergast • 3mo ago

That letter says your warranty expired in May, they do replace as many times as needed when under warranty.

BeNicePlsThankU OP • 3mo ago • Edited 3mo agoPurple10tacle • 3mo ago

Edit: Google has an extended 3 year warranty for this exact issue, yet they only honor it once apparently

The extended warranty only applies to those displays known to have the issue, see:

Has a device identifier like IMEI or serial number determined by Google or an authorized repair partner, as qualifying for this program

If your display was made by Samsung: they are not known to frequently exhibit this fault, you'll get no extended warranty, even if the display exhibits the issue.

If your display was made by BOE: they are known to exhibit this fault, Google extended the warranty for this reason.

You should have received a Samsung display as a replacement, therefore negating any need for additional warranty. If and why that didn't happen is something you should try to figure out.

Here's some info on how to figure that out:

https://www.reddit.com/r/pixel_phones/comments/1er59h1/pixel8_found_out_how_you_can_determine_what/

BeNicePlsThankU OP • 3mo ago

It happened once already. Google repaired it, sent it back and then it happened again. Regardless, they don't mention that you only get one replacement under their extended warranty/repair program on their website. I appreciate the additional information, by the way

Purple10tacle • 3mo ago • Edited 3mo ago

If it happened on a Pixel 8 with a Samsung display outside the regular warranty window, the amount of replacements under extended repair program would have been zero. Because it's not a known defect, that the extended repair program would cover.

If the known-to-be-faulty BOE display is always replaced with not-known-to-be-faulty Samsung display, I fully understand why the amount of replacements under the extended repair program is one - since after replacement, your device automatically no longer qualifies.

Skip to main content

Create

If it's the former, that would be frustrating, but I can at least understand the logic behind denying the claim. If it's the latter, I would definitely try to push back - maybe against Google's partner who did the faulty repair.

u/BiscottiDisastrous19 • Promoted

Architecture-Independent Behavioral Detection in LLMs: 217K-Parameter Probes Achieve 999x Separation on Both Transformers and Mamba

KingOfThe_Jelly_Fish • 3mo ago

Pixel 5

How did this post work out for you? Did everyone agree or disagree with you?

BeNicePlsThankU OP • 3mo ago

I'm not trying to get people to agree or disagree with me. It's sad that you think this is the point of the post. Feel free to read through and learn more.

sfdreamsla • 3mo ago

Pixel 9a

I had the same thing happen with my pixel 5A.

alwaysforward31 • 3mo ago

Go on Twitter and name and shame them and tag @madebygoogle account.

Puzzleheaded_Sun7356 • 3mo ago

Nope. I did four times

Alternative-Farmer98 • 3mo ago

It's disappointing how any criticism of pixel consumer policies are downvoted n

Create

Reddit Rules Privacy Policy User Agreement Accessibility Reddit, Inc. © 2026. All rights reserved.