Have you owned a Pixel 9 and a 10?

Hello! I don't trust online reviews.. Have you had Pixel 9 and Pixel 10? That's why I ask you which of the two you like more? On the subject of photographs and autonomy. Thank you and sorry if you have answered this question a thousand times 🧡

I've had a 9 since I traded in my 7 for it at launch. I looked at the 10 but decided to stick with the 9, I couldn't see any reason to switch, and still don't.

Pixel 6 📱

Still with the 6 here. Honestly finding 0 reasons to swap. Probably will once it ends software support. Will see maybe extending it with Lineage OS

I had a 9 Pro and now I have a 10 Pro

Do not upgrade, it isn't worth it lmao. I feel a little regretful upgrading, just for a shittier battery.

I'm not turning off basic functionalities for my phone to perform the same way as my previous one did when this costs four figures.

Hostillian • 3mo ago

It doesn't turn off WiFi and Bluetooth. 🌈 ...Just the pointless scanning that it does constantly, to try to improve GPS..

Look under Settings, location, location services.

Pixel 9

I'm trying this..thanks.

Shurane • 3mo ago

Do you know how much of a difference it makes for battery life? Like an extra 1-2 hours a day kind of situation?

Hostillian • 3mo ago

Give it a go.. My battery life easily lasts a full day now. Though some of that might be due to the phone learning about my usage habits. It's nearly the end of the day and I've 66% remaining.

Indeed.

I also had a 9 Pro since launch and bought a 10 Pro at launch. Thankfully I sent it back within the first 14 days and just kept the 9 Pro.

average of 8 hours or at most 10 hours on my Samsung S25+. Average of 8 hours and it is a faster, better phone. Pixels are just ok.

Curious - what modem issues have you had? On a recent trip to the middle of nowhere in New Mexico, my P10P held onto usable signal better than my mom's iPhone 16 Pro Max. She'd often show no signal at all while mine had a usable signal.

The P8 modem was trash, but I don't hate the P9/P10's modem, efficiency aside.

RavenZRamon • 3mo ago

Pixels have been known to have modem problems since at least Pixel 8. Many disconnects. Or range is not great. My Samsung S25+ is perfect. iPhone 15 Pro is decent and far better than Pixel but Sammy is the best!

Pixel 10 Pro

Qualcomm makes a good modem, but my P10P has been great. I can pull 1.3gbps from T-Mobile at my office. 🙌

RFPhelel • 3mo ago

I totally agree. I love the pixel but the phone is no where near as powerful as a galaxy S25.

I went from a basic Pixel 9 to a 10 Pro XL, I can't tell you much about the generational transition, but I noticed a series of immense advantages over the Pro and it's worth it, in summary: -It heats up much less thanks to the vapor chamber -the general fluidity is better, probably also due to the updated memories as well as the tensor -the videos are much better on the 10 series -Pixel snap is convenient, but not essential for me

Having said that I loved my pixel 9 and it's a gorgeous phone too, maybe you'd be better off getting a 9 pro and at most upgrading next year to the eleven series using the trade-in offers, but you won't regret either of them sore point, the drums. Even though I manage to get to the evening, it bothers me that I have such a high consumption in the background, at night it easily loses 10/15% without touching it

Majestic_squirrel767 • 2mo ago

Speaker? Haptics? Screen brightness? Is the camera processing any faster especially night sight ?

GhostofShula • 3mo ago

I had the 10 pro XL. I use the nine pro XL and I have the nine and the 10 pro XL is a downgrade in my mind too heavy in the middle. Heavier overall does not feel good in the hand and it does not have a mechanical Sim slot. If you ever move overseas or travel a lot, that is a big deal downgrade. Definitely not worth the price increase

RocketPunchFC • 3mo ago

I had a 9ProXL and moved to a 10ProXL and I regret upgrading. The 9pro ran cooler and was more stable during long video calls. I got sucked by the sweet trade-in and discount promotion.

Sundaelcy8775 • 3mo ago

Pixel 10 Pro XL

I had the Pixel 9 Pro XL for a year then upgraded to the Pixel 10 Pro XL. I have no regrets.

PNWoutdoors • 3mo ago

Pixel 9 Pro XL

Same, but realistically the hardware is so similar I'd recommend the 9 Pro to most people just to save some money.

I have a 10 Pro XL and love it. Battery life seems fine. Standard Pro may have different performance battery wise though.

I second all of this. P10PXL here and I absolutely love it. Everything works as it should, and battery life is great. No complaints whatsoever.

You owned a p9 for a year then you got a p10 and your saying the battery is worse?

killhemmy • 3mo ago

P10P + PBP2 + PW1

yes, the pixel 10 series's batteries are worse than the 9 series.

Ok-Chip-1049 • 3mo ago

This dude doesn't know what he is talking about. My wife went from the 9 to the 10. The 10 has a 4,970 mah battery and the 9 has a 4,700 mah battery. Along with the more efficient G5 in the 10. The 10 is definitely better. And she's a super heavy user.

Eso me gustaría saber y también con el tema cámara

GhoulsD3n • 3mo ago

I have both pixel 9 pro XL and now the 10 pro fold. If you have neither just get the 10. If you're deciding which of the 2 then honestly it doesn't matter. I do appreciate pixelsnap on the 10 series which is why I even bothered getting the 10 at all. Both are great phones honestly. The battery on my fold is better than the battery on my 9 pro XL and the 9 pro XL already had a good battery.

The only issue I ever came across was updating android on the 9 series to Android 16 and for the first few months the home button and everything wasn't working well but Google since put out another update for that and it's been working fine again since

Pixel 10 Pro Fold

I've had every generation of Pixel except the 4.

I upgraded specifically for Qi2 functionality, and I don't regret that, other than it did necessitate replacing a few of my older chargers that the new phone absolutely didn't like. But having the magnets and standard support built in has mostly been a big improvement.

That said, I also went from a 9 Pro to a 10 Pro Fold, so there are other factors at play in it being a new experience for me, and that is technically a photo downgrade, although I haven't noticed a major difference yet.

ProcessBeginning5431 • 3mo ago

I joined this topic and noticed

- A lot of people writing bullshit about the Tensor G5 and about performance, like they barely have a slice of a idea of what they're talking about
- People shitting on the 10 line giving props to the 9 like it's "a better phone" despite being worse than the 10 in every department, having a weak, inefficient and throttling SoC whereas the 3nm TSMC node of the Tensor G5 makes another world
- People posting positive feedback about switching from the 9 to the 10 got downvoted, literally every, single, comment

This sub is still fucked up and filled with toxicity and biased frustrated people.

To OP, I agree not trusting online reviews, but be aware that this sub is even less reliable, stay away from here if you're looking for actual unbiased and honest opinions.

Thank you for your writing, I have the option of returning the 9 and buying the 10. But seeing that the camera seems inferior to the 10 makes me back off...
