My google is acting up

So everytime i open my phone will show that action is required for my google account at the google play service, and I would re login on that day and I will have to relogin for the same gmail the next day. And this also happens in my gmail app. Everytime i open my app to check something I have to relogin to check, and this applies to all my google app like sheets, doc and ect. And everytime i go in to a game they ask me to choose a google play account and obviously they ask me to re login again, this is really pissing me off already that i have to re login for every single google app 🙄

I have multiple Gmail accounts as well and sometimes I encounter this. I make sure they are all logged in
