What is happening with Google?

I'm not able to search, when I load a page the letters become dark and Google "crashes" and I can no longer drag the screen down.

I uninstalled and installed again, the first one worked but the second time the problem came back.

I would like to know if it is my cell phone that has a problem or a Google update that caused this problem.

Chrome works without any problems.

Also can't vertical scroll in the Google app.

Just to confirm, have you tried clearing the cache of the Google app to see if that helps?

Yes, I did all of this, my problem was resolved after I did this entire process.

Still, thanks for commenting.
