

Skip to main content r/pixel_phones Search in r/pixel_phones

Create

r/pixel_phones • 9h ago
Road_Runner19

Worth buying google pixel

I have heard a lot of issues regarding camera quality and the camera getting broken easily?

↑ 0 ↓

15

Share

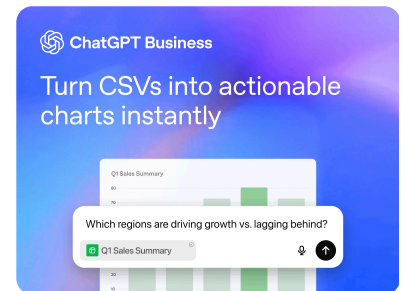

OpenAI • Promoted

Turn rough notes into polished assets and messy data into clear charts. Try ChatGPT Business today.

Learn More

chatgpt.com

Join the conversation

Sort by: Best Search Comments

be____happy • 9h ago
Top 1% Commenter

Which pixel?

Camera broken?

What phone do you have now?

↑ 6 ↓ Reply ...

gasparthehaunter • 9h ago

My 9 pro XL is fine

↑ 4 ↓ Reply ...

Briollo • 9h ago

No problems with my 10 Pro Fold.

Road_Runner19 OP • 9h ago

10 pro

Skip to main content

Create

Not worth it given the premium price tag, u expect premium features. I.e their AI features class as a premium price tag but every phone has that. And below is a photo taken with an oppo find x9. I see that Google has no one ups other than their OS. But even that has regular bugs.

Alternative-Way4750 • 9h ago

This is subjective I understand but the software experience is much better on a pixel in my opinion. How much value anyone puts on that is up to them.

Afraid-Scene-335 • 8h ago

U will see for urself. Thats up to u to decide. As someone who came from pixel, i moved on from their poor QC on their OS. Sure its smooth, but their OS is battery taxing (crazy right when its supposed to be lightweight but it isnt) and has a fair bit of visual glitches. Dont even get me started with support and their shotty replacement schemes. They use preowned devices and repair them in house to get them back to you despite it having faults out of the box. An open box repaired phone's value is not the same as unopened. Thats another thing.

I mean no harm or foul if u go pixel but id rather have a phone i genuinely can use for the software support limit too. Google phones wont last 3 years, despite it having 7 years of updates. So yeah just a warning about their device.

Alternative-Way4750 • 8h ago

I came from One Plus with an amazing battery and yeah I get the battery argument, it's valid. For my personal use though, the pixel battery is serviceable. Definitely miss the better battery of course but the software for me blows OP out of the water. Pros and cons. If the battery didn't get me through a whole day like it does now I may have a different opinion. For now though, I am willing to take the half a day less of battery for a better phone for my needs. It's also cheaper, which is a factor. MSRP may not be cheaper but they are always on sale.

Afraid-Scene-335 • 8h ago

Not always. But i use oppo not one plus and imho i see how u dont like the OS. But imho it doesnt blow it out of the water when there is less customisation in google

Create

Alternative-Way4750 • 8h ago

The simplicity of the more pure android experience with Pixel is what I prefer.

Afraid-Scene-335 • 5h ago

Then sure. If ur certain about that then stick with it. There is no need to ask about this. However the only issues I have had with pixel cameras are: oversharpened photos and bad zoom animations. Other than that, there is genuinely nothing wrong with their cameras. Videography just isnt their forte, thanks to the heavy reliance on computational photography (powered by their on device AI). Video just shows their lack in hardware in videography significantly. So just keep that in mind. Other than that theyre good devices if you can get them on a sale. I would never recommend such a mid range package at a premium price tag.

BKDoDGeR06 • 8h ago

Zero issues with P10XL

No_Chef_655 • 8h ago

Yeah definitely. It's a lovely phone. Super smooth the camera is incredible and the build quality is pretty amazing. The current models are built in the same factories that the iPhones are built

BamaChic76 • 6h ago

Search reddit for pixel 10 issues.

vkare • 5h ago

Camera and OS are excellent. SoC is the worst for the money.