- Around here 256g pixel 10 is around 900Eur with pro around 1000Eur. Is the 100eur saving worth passing up 10Pro?
- It seems like its an inflated price and in such situation there's no point in getting plain 10. OTOH specs can be misleading and maybe 10pro is only 10% better and there's little point in paying more and getting less battery?
- From practical users and prices in your region, how does 10 vs 10pro stand against each other price-value wise?
- Also Camera is important factor and one of main reason i could even justify an expensive flagship - to largely replace my DSLR.
- Or they're both inflated and i'm better off looking at other brands?

-battery longevity noticeably not as good as when I first owned the phone, especially when using camera app alot on trips. I have a trip coming up to Europe in a few months and would like a phone that I can last a day that won't completely drain the battery from just taking photos.

-I like taking pictures of food at restaurant under different lighting conditions, but some of the pics on my 23U look oversaturated?/overprocessed?

-I like listening to YT podcast while in shower, and sometimes the 23U speaker just aren't loud enough with background showering going on.

There is a holiday sale going on at Google store and with a trade-in, the final price of the pixel 10 pro seemed to be at a reasonable price. Will a switch to Pixel 10 pro address some of the problems I have above? Or wise to wait for 26U or Pixel 11 series? I have never owned a Pixel before but uses a lot of the Google stuff on my Samsung, so anything I should be aware before making the switch?

As a side note, I love to use AI to help with calls (which I think Pixel also have). I also don't plan to play games on my phone anytime soon.

I bought for two weeks pixel 9a and I'm happy, It's beautiful, amazing battery life, best pixel I've had, 256GB off course Between a Pixel 9 Pro XL at €600 and a Pixel 10 Pro at €800 which one would you choose? Both phones are used like new, both are 256GB. I cannot decide, and I need a new phone asap. I prefer smaller phones but I find it hard to justify the price difference. If the 9 wasn't the XL I would have got it immediately.

Should I upgrade from Pixel 6 to Pixel 9 or 9a? I'm pretty broke right now, but repair people keep giving me cost estimates well above the phone's value. I keep hearing good things about the Pixel 9 and thought it might be a better option than having my screen replaced. Especially if they're gonna stop updates.

Thinking of moving from a p9p to the p10p just for the free 2tb storage and it includes the home premium standard 30 plan. For both its $200. My extra cost after the trade in would be $60. I'm not completely sure about switching to the 10pro. I would lose the use of my pixel stand 2 and no sim card tray on the p10p.

Pixel 9 Pro XL- 256GB for $979 CDN, or a Pixel 10- 128GB for $849.99 CDN. What do you think? I mostly use them for their picture quality. Thanks for any advice.

*Lightening Deal is over, Pixel 9 Pro XL is now $1,121.46.

Pixel 10 Pro XL

Jade 10 Pro XL here and it's very nice to see and hold.

I spent 3 hours on the buy page last night and I still can't decide which colour or size I want, pro or pro XL Obsidian or moonstone! 🤔

Responsible_Image_58 • 2mo ago

I pre ordered the pro moonstone when it launched, returned it because I had connection issues. Black Friday deals came around and I missed my pixel so I ordered a pro obsidian. I really like the obsidian more than the moonstone. Luckily for me, the connection issues were resolved and I'm loving the smaller form factor after using larger screen phones since the Galaxy s21 ultra.

Gangaman666 • 2mo ago

Haha yeah that's why I'm stressing because I can't decide and the black Friday deals are really good on Google!

May have to just toss a coin what size! 🤔

I'm leaning more towards the obsidian tbh, I've always been a black phone guy!

I'm waiting for my dbrand ghost case to come in to see how it looks with that on it

jrlouiss • 2mo ago

Obsidian looks beautiful this year.

Yeah it does! 😊 But moonstone looks fantastic too, almost like a chrome phone!

Good point about the better charging, although even though the XL is bigger the battery doesn't last any longer, so I've heard (because of the bigger screen etc)

istredd • 2mo ago

It all depends, but if you don't want to spend extra money and not looking for Qi2 charge just go with 9 series. There are minor differences between last two series and latest Tensor isn't major upgrade as it was expected in many places. Don't overpay, spent extra money on pixel buds instead. Especially because many black Friday sales still ongoing. If you like advanced camera go with Pro series, otherwise base 9 is capable of everything. 9 Pro for smaller factor, XL of you like bigger battery life.

MonkeyBiscuits • 2mo ago

Most places I'm seeing are selling the 9 pro for the same as the 10 Pro.

townie1 • 2mo ago

Yeah, I was hoping the 9 series price would drop for Black Friday.

jfliz • 2mo ago

I'm looking for a 9 pro or 10 pro. Hoping to find a good deal, otherwise I don't mind waiting.

Is there anything about the 9 that would annoy me over buying the latest? Also could I consider the 9a?
